

Government-funded GMO studies around the world

Are the claims that GMO studies are only conducted in the U.S. true?

Data from the GENetic Engineering Risk Atlas (GENERA), showing 198 peer-reviewed scientific studies that address the risks and benefits of genetically engineered foods funded by governments worldwide out of 400 randomly selected for the beta release of the Atlas.

Visit genera.biofortified.org for up-to-date information.
Information presented in this graphic is accurate as of August 2014.